

Emma Wimhurst

Professional Speaker

*Your people and their performance will never be the same again
- they'll be EMpowered!*

A revolution in inspirational, motivational, speaking.

Inspire and motivate your team to drive your organisation forward

Emma Wimhurst is a high profile, in-demand motivational speaker, personal mentor and business trainer. Organisations of every size and in every sector, from start-ups and SMEs to corporations and educational establishments, call upon Emma to inspire and motivate their people. In short, she gives them the facts, advice and insights they need to really succeed in their field.

However, Emma isn't just a truly motivational, inspirational and refreshingly frank speaker. She's actually living proof that her business methods work in our highly competitive world.

Emma's achieved the commercial success that some others can only talk about. And now she will help you and your team do the same.

Emma started her own business in 2000 and it went from nothing to a £1 million turnover (with healthy profit margins) in its first year. Turnover then rose to virtually £3 million by year four thanks to her unique Seven Business Disciplines.

Amazingly, Emma achieved all this while rising to an even tougher challenge - bringing up three young children!

Today Emma runs her own highly successful consultancy – EMPwr.

Immediate impact, actionable insights, long term benefits

With Emma there's no academic waffle or theoretical mumbo-jumbo, just practical, proven and results driven insight delivered with unique authority, style, conviction, humour, warmth and interaction.

Most importantly, everything Emma imparts can be put to good use the moment your people get back to their roles in your organisation. The result? Your return on your investment in Emma is high and immediate.

No one leaves one of Emma's presentations without renewed self belief and a reinvigorated understanding of what they can achieve. Emma doesn't just capture hearts and minds, she changes them... for good!

Any time, anywhere, any audience

Whether you want your colleagues, clients, customers, partners or suppliers inspired or motivated, Emma has an impressive track record in delivering fresh thinking, impact, memorability and, of course, action for a wide range of audiences.

Equally impressive is the array of topics she has recently talked about. These include:

The Make-up of Business Success

From high heels to hard work, how Emma formulated the Seven Business Disciplines that drove the success of her cosmetics business and how you can leverage them.

The Devil's in the Detail

Tells you the right way to work the small stuff and develop your business from the bottom up, while not losing sight of success.

Building Business by Building Relationships

How to positively focus on the people who can positively effect the growth of your business. What to say, how to say it and who to!

Millionaire Mums – how to join the club

Families and businesses; how to successfully mix the two by finding the time, dumping the guilt and relying on others.

Of course, Emma will happily tailor a presentation to your needs; one that's customised to suit your target audience, theme and key messages.

Here's just a taste of what people have said about Emma

"Emma has a 'take no prisoners' drive and passion approach to business."

GW (MBE)

"Emma is quite simply amazing. She has a strong and powerful persona, is never intimidating, always inspiring. She has an intuitive understanding of business and the way people think that makes motivational books and other seminars pale into insignificance."

Carl Jones

"Emma is uplifting and her unique delivery style is fabulously refreshing in today's business world"

Caroline Swatton

To find out more about Emma and to book her for your next event please contact:

Sue Blake
+44 208 979 5220
sue@sueblakemedia.co.uk

EMpwr
The High - Energy Business Mentor.

tel: 01202 830653 web: www.EMPwr.co.uk
email: emma@EMPwr.co.uk